FROM THE PASTOR

A Word About Worship: Why Do We Stand for the Liturgy of Confession?

Another change in our worship service is that we remain standing after the opening hymn, as we hear and then respond to the Call to Confession. Why? Simply put – we stand for the Prayer of Confession because we don't kneel! I don't mean that facetiously – but it's not only what we say that reflects our attitude. If we are sincerely penitent, and honest about our need for forgiveness, then probably, as The Companion to the Book of Common Worship says, "sitting is... not the optimal posture for an act of humility before the God of grace." So, we stand while we pray, and we remain standing as we receive the Assurance of God's Pardon, out of respect, awe and gratitude before the living God. And don't worry, I'm not going to ask you to kneel – though if the Spirit moves you, please go right ahead! (continued)

*With regret, we heard that Sunday School teacher Pamela Hahn will, after a decade of faithful service, leave at the end of June. The Christian Education Committee, Neal Boswell, chair, will coordinate the search for a new teacher.

*The Stewardship Committee presented the schedule for their 2018 activities.

*Worship & Music Committee reports discussion about summer worship: perhaps July in the sanctuary and August in the Carnegie Library.

The Mission Study Process Begins

Last month, you read an overview of the interim period tasks; this month, we get down to business! On Sunday June 24, our Mission Study process will begin with the traditional potluck picnic, as we eat together and have some fun sharing and recording memorable events in the life of Second Presbyterian, decade by decade, with an emphasis on personal experience. You'll be asked questions like: When did you join the church? What church and community and world events do you recall? What pastors, and what church or family high points, do you remember?

Then, in small groups, you'll talk about what Second Presbyterian has meant to you, and begin to think ahead to the future, as you consider what you think are the gifts, challenges and needs of this church. That should be enough to start with!

If you can't make it, we'll miss you, but do not fear – there will be other opportunities to share your experiences and thoughts, including a survey questionnaire you'll be asked to respond to. And we'll have another congregation-wide meeting in the fall – and perhaps at the end of the process we'll reconvene again and return to some of the early questions, to see if your thoughts have changed.

Meanwhile, in summer or early fall, the Session will appoint a Mission Study Team of 3 – 5 people who'll gather more information about the church and the neighborhood. Eventually, guided by prayer and continued conversation, they'll put all that valuable information together and see what it reveals about where and to what God is calling this church.

So, save the date: June 24, after worship. I look forward to seeing you all there.

Grace and peace,
Rev. Lindsay
